

Should I become a student member of a professional association?

It is extremely beneficial for students to become student members of professional associations while they are still studying. These benefits include:

- › Networking with practitioners, graduates and industry leaders
- › Access to online resources, seminars and webinars
- › Student Memberships are often free
- › Use your time as a student to identify the best association for you
- › Student members may have their full membership fast tracked upon graduation

Your course profile on the Endeavour website lists the various professional associations you can connect with for your modality so you can find out more about memberships and other specific information relevant to each association.

- › On-campus career events
- › Access to Endeavour's online jobs board
- › Access to employment preparation resources

Endeavour's Careers Service looks forward to connecting with you throughout your studies to assist you plan your successful career within the natural health industry.

What is Endeavour's Career Planner?

The Endeavour Career planner has been created to allow you to invest time in identifying your ideal career path which will enable you to start planning for your future career whilst studying.

The Career planner consists of four career activities which supports you in identifying your values, career goal, strengths, the opportunities available to you and the actions you need to take that will give you an employability edge when you graduate.

Most importantly, once you have collated this information and have a clear career direction you will be able to list on your Career planner the various actions that you need to complete, the dates you need to complete them by with the aim of this assisting you with your transition to employment.

Access the Career Planner at careerplanner.endeavour.edu.au using your Library login details.

What is the focus of Endeavour's Webinar Program?

Endeavour's Natural Health Webinar Program hosts webinars throughout the year which regularly feature contemporary natural health topics, case studies, graduate success stories, natural health career paths and has an emphasis on improving graduate business management skills. Access the events page on the Careers website to view and register for upcoming webinars.

All webinars featured as part of the Natural Health Webinar program are also recorded for you to access at a later date which are located under Webinar Recordings on the Careers Service website.

Are career events hosted on Campus?

At different times throughout the year the Careers Service hosts a variety of on-campus career presentations. Participants in these events include:

- › Networks within the Natural Health Industry
- › Alumni
- › Employers
- › Professional Associations

A main focus for on-campus events is to give students' access to Industry Panels. These panels provide Endeavour students the opportunity to ask career questions of diverse panel members who work in acupuncture, myotherapy, nutrition, naturopathy and other diverse roles within the natural health industry.

The panel members give tips of how they transitioned to employment, how they built their clientele, different career paths they have been exposed to, what they did to set-up their own businesses and the challenges and successes they had along the way.

Access the events page on the Careers website to view and register for upcoming webinars.

How do I look for jobs?

Endeavour is contacted daily by organisations who are seeking to employ current students and graduates. All of these job vacancies are posted on Endeavour's Jobs Board. Students are encouraged to keep track of employers who advertise jobs on the Jobs Board and connect with these employers in order to grow your network and future employment possibilities.

Jobs advertised on the Jobs Board vary from practitioner specific to other roles within the natural health industry.

The Jobs Board is located at endeavour.edu.au/careers-service/jobs-board

What employment preparation resources do I need?

The Careers Service has created a number of career resources to assist with your application for job vacancies. These resources include:

- › What to consider when planning your career booklet
- › Cover letter and resume samples
- › Job search strategies
